How to Get Your MLO Mortgage License in California

1. Apply for your NMLS account and ID Number

Before you take the course you need to register with HMLS, file MU4 to obtain eligibility number (NMLS ID) prior to register your exam. To find out how to apply,Â go to the NMLSÂ website here.

Â

2. Take Your NMLS 20-Hour Education

This course must be completed within 14 days upon starting the course.Â The course can start any date of the week and any time. Keep in mind there are no "scheduled" activities so you can participate when it's convenient for you.

After completing the NMLS education course, next step is to take the NMLS licensing exam.

Your last step is to link your license to your sponsoring employer broker.
